

Listen to me. Please.

My community-owned electric utility, Reading Municipal Light Department, needs your support to keep electricity costs fair and make our public power systems work for all of us.

Reading Municipal Light Department speaks for me. I need my congressional representatives to listen when public power tells you that a big part of my electric costs are rising for no good reason. Congress and FERC have oversight responsibility for our regional transmission authority – the Independent System Operator of New England (ISO-NE). We need ISO-NE to be more cost-conscious and accountable to consumers. Currently they are not.

Here’s what I think about unfair power charges and inflated electric bills:
